LOGNOTE -- Chief, Operations Group, 27 October 1983

1. [] phoned to say that programming had slowed down considerably last night. Havana had gone into network and was playing documentary material, showing protesting crowds, interviews with indignant citizens and so forth. CANA has resumed filing and considerable peripheral commentary from other Caribbean nations is being monitored. He said they were tired and were very glad to have [] but that he felt he would not need the editors. I said that, after the ceremonial period, Havana was likely to pick up again so we would send one editor but would keep the other on standby. [] should go ahead on Monday as planned. I told [] that he should review the situation at mid-point next week and we would then recall any TDYers who were no longer needed. I told him the bureau had done a fine job and that everyone here was pleased with their performance.
